Powerful footsteps walk Tomahawk Trail, footsteps whose rhythms are dictated by discipline, ingenuity and courage: the components of the trail.

Mr. William King is a man whose every footstep beats out these components.

DISCIPLINE. A 1944 Toms River High School graduate, Mr. King served in the Navy, co-piloted a blimp, took computer and library science courses, learned carpentry, painting and piano, and taught himself to play organ.

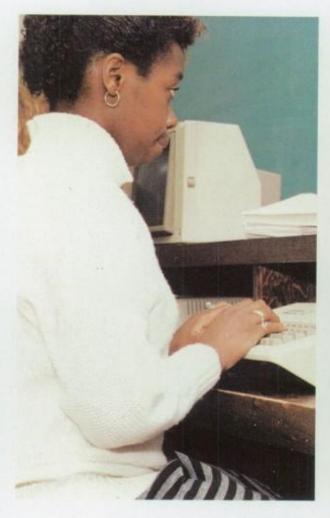

INGENUITY. Mr. King helped modernize High School South. A business teacher in 1959, by 1969 he was establishing a data-processing class, the district's first computer course. He also developed South's interclass television system, another district

COURAGE. While in the Navy, Mr. King risked everything in experiments with underwater explosives to clear beaches of obstructions to American ships. Upon his discharge, he joined an advertising agency which used blimps. After learning to maneuver these crafts, Mr. King often sat in back, dangling his feet through an open door.

ACCOMPLISHMENT. This is the definite echo of the footsteps of a man who today is a Media Specialist; who achieved Naval and business success; who taught and began classes; whose artwork is displayed publicly; and who restored his old Victorian home.

They are footsteps that help set the beat of Tomahawk Trail: the beat of Indian Pride.

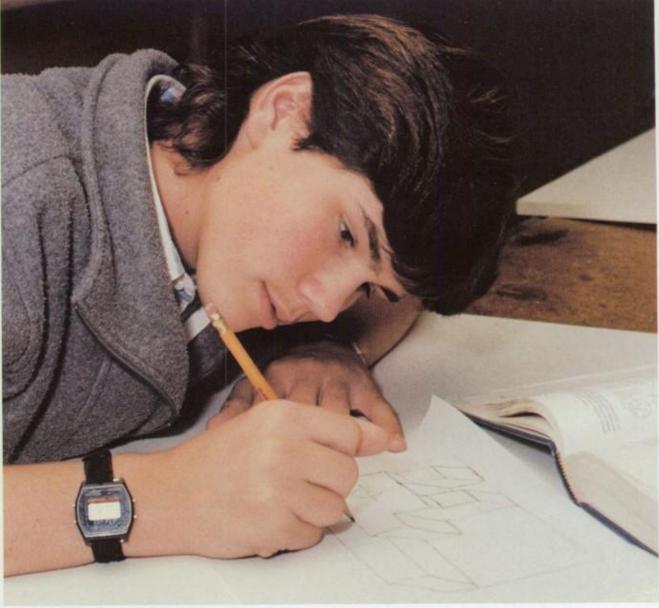

T H E TRAIL O U R SCHOOL

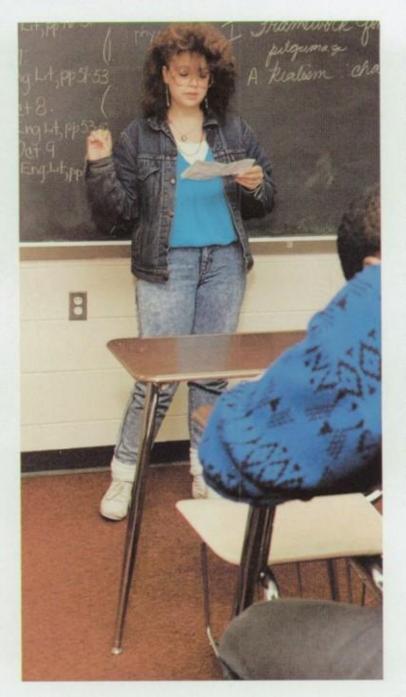

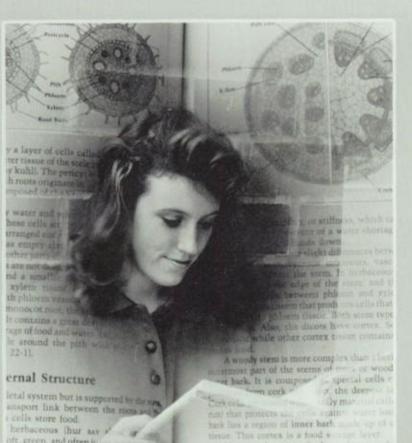

We hear its strain as soon as we enter: the heritage pulsating from Tomahawk Trail. It began its beat almost 100 years ago to the moccasin-clad footsteps of the Indian and the Princess. As years passed and others followed these first two, the beat changed its tempo to keep stride. Yet its message remained constant: the tradition of Indian pride.

We walk along Tomahawk Trail, mindful first that our steps fall in line behind those of the Indian, the Princess and others who preceded us and second, that our steps set the beat for those who will follow us.

This awareness rises up: the tradition of Indian pride will build us- and we will build the tradition.

Near to the inner bark

A plant with a herbaceous remi

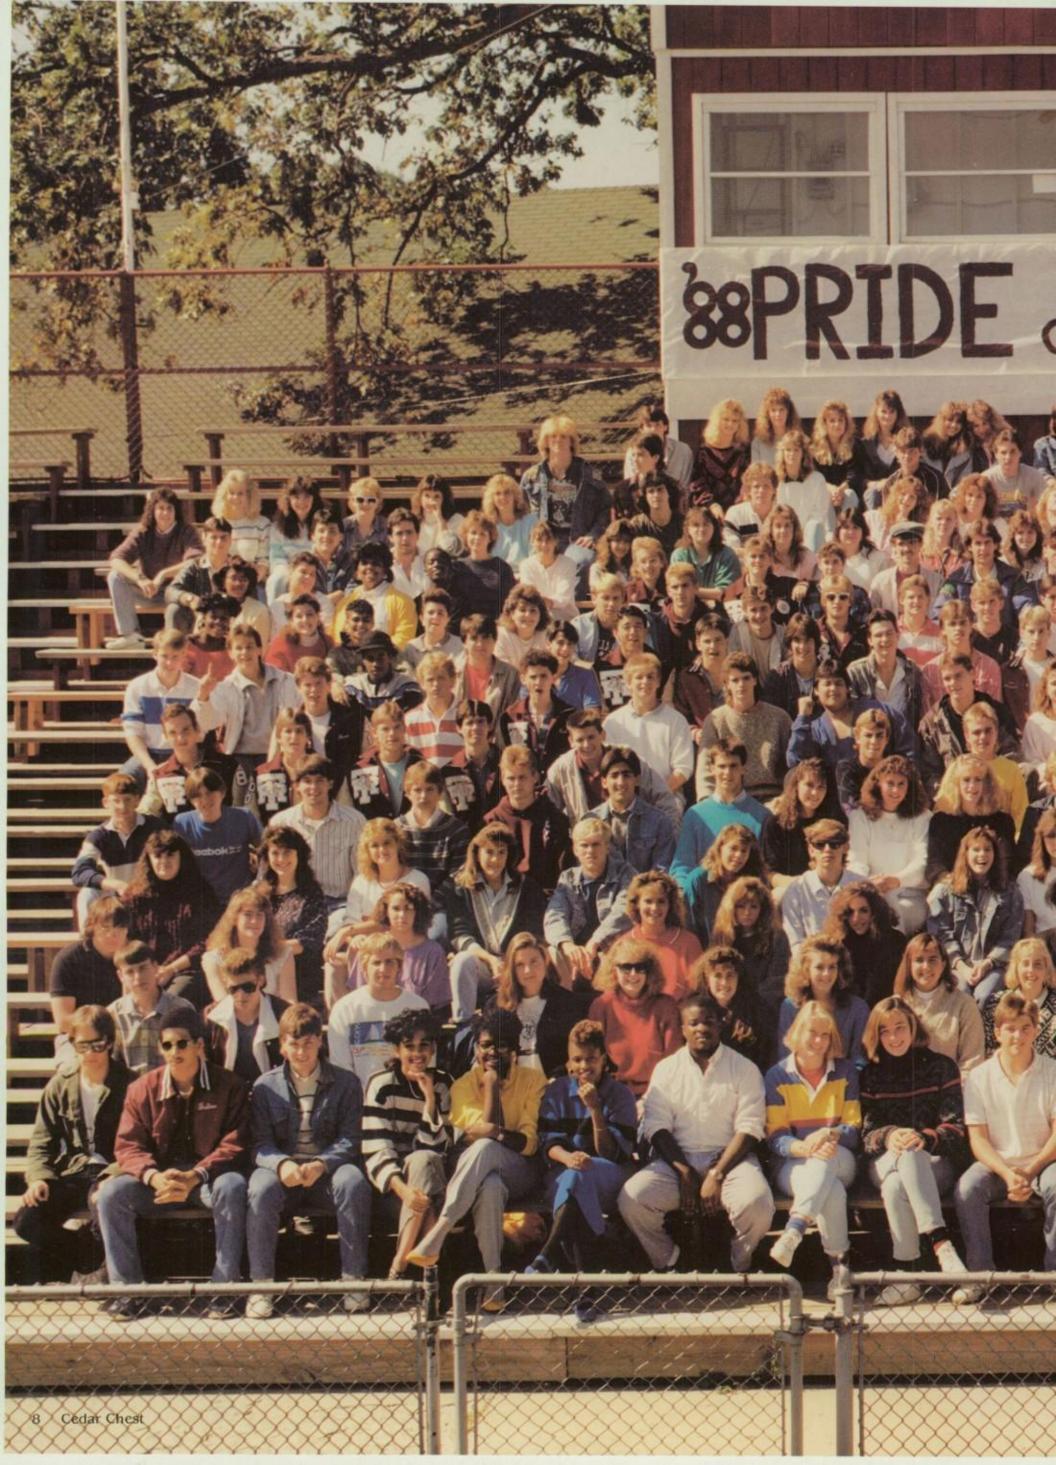

The creation flows from class to club to sport as one after another strives for personal best.

The process continues until one precise moment when all forces synchronize the best: The Pride of the Tribe.

Listening closely, we discover that this beat does not rise up from one single source. Rather, it is a composition.

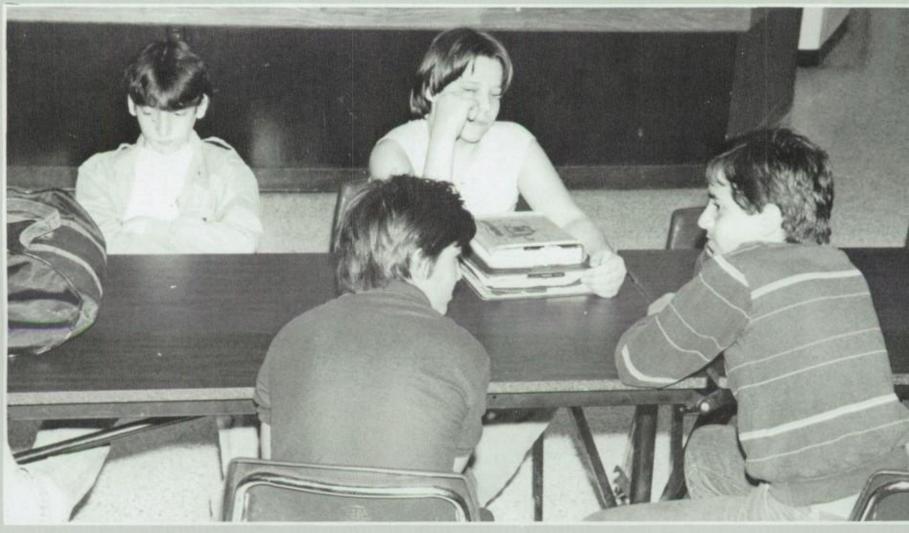

As we each find our places in the sports and clubs where we can meet the challenges that cause us to reach for greater heights, we help create the composition.

Each class hears the beat reown way. The newest members of the tribe hear with eagerness and respond with enthusiasm.

Often their steps falter- sometimes sound; each class responds in its racing ahead, sometimes falling behind the pace the beat sets. Indian determination propels them to continue.

They study the steps of those before them. In time they se pace with them. The freshmer learn their first lesson from the beat: the stride of the pride.

No less eagerly or enthusiastically, the sophomores hear the beat. They respond with developing sophistication.

Accustomed now to the beat, they follow confidently. With an awakening maturity, they hear its next lesson:

Each one has his own strengths. Each one has particular talents. Each one is unique.

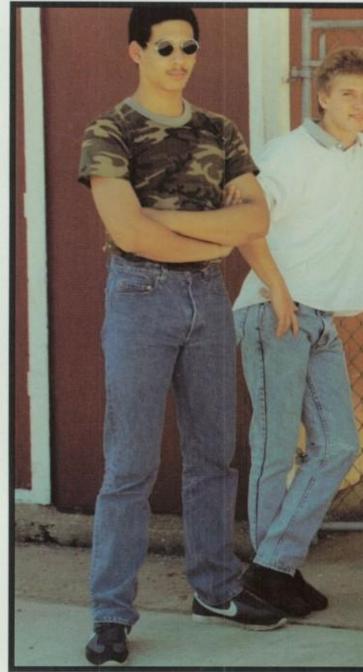

Each one has his own sound to bring to the beat.

Tomahawk Trail carries these unique sounds. Here, cashmere confronts leather and bobbed hair brushes against spiked.

Lockers open to show the uniqueness of the travelers. One locker opens to show a poster of Bon Jovi; another reveals the Beastie Boys. A surfer rides the waves in one locker while a gymnast mounts the beam in another.

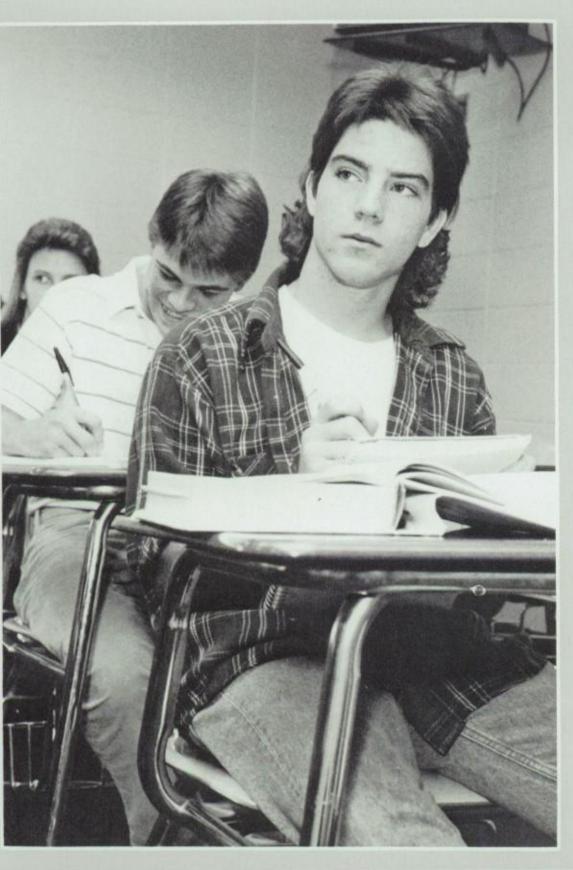

Inside, the books the lockers hold show further distinctions. Book titles ranging from computer programming to beauty culture to physics to creative writing show the distinctiveness of the pursuits of those who study them.

Each expression on Tomahawk Trail is distinctive but none is dissonant. All blend together to beautify the sound of the beat of Indian pride with harmony.

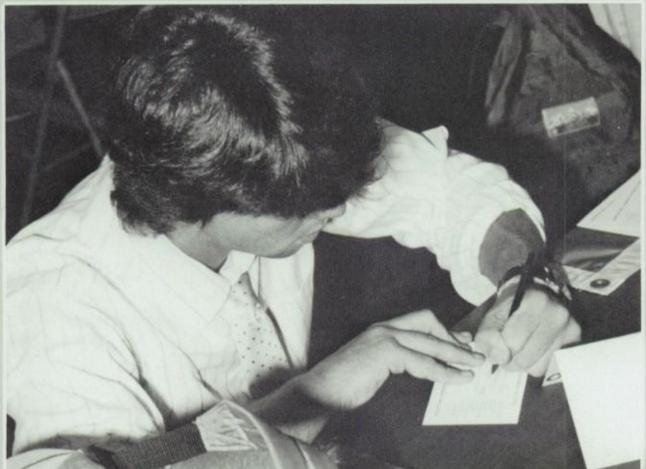

That harmony is the next lesson the beat teaches. It is a lesson the juniors hear best. Sensing that the beat that taught them to keep stride with tradition and taught them to build upon that tradition now begins to lead them to the end of Tomahawk Trail, they fix their gaze upon the future. The trails it offers do not show themselves yet. One thing is clear. The trails before them have beats of their own. Sure of Tomahawk Trail's beat, the juniors will not forsake it. Rather, they will play it out on these new trails to create a greater harmony.

They carry that surety into their senior year. In this final stage, with each step forward they take one glance back.

Not yet certain of where they are going, they are certain of where they have been.

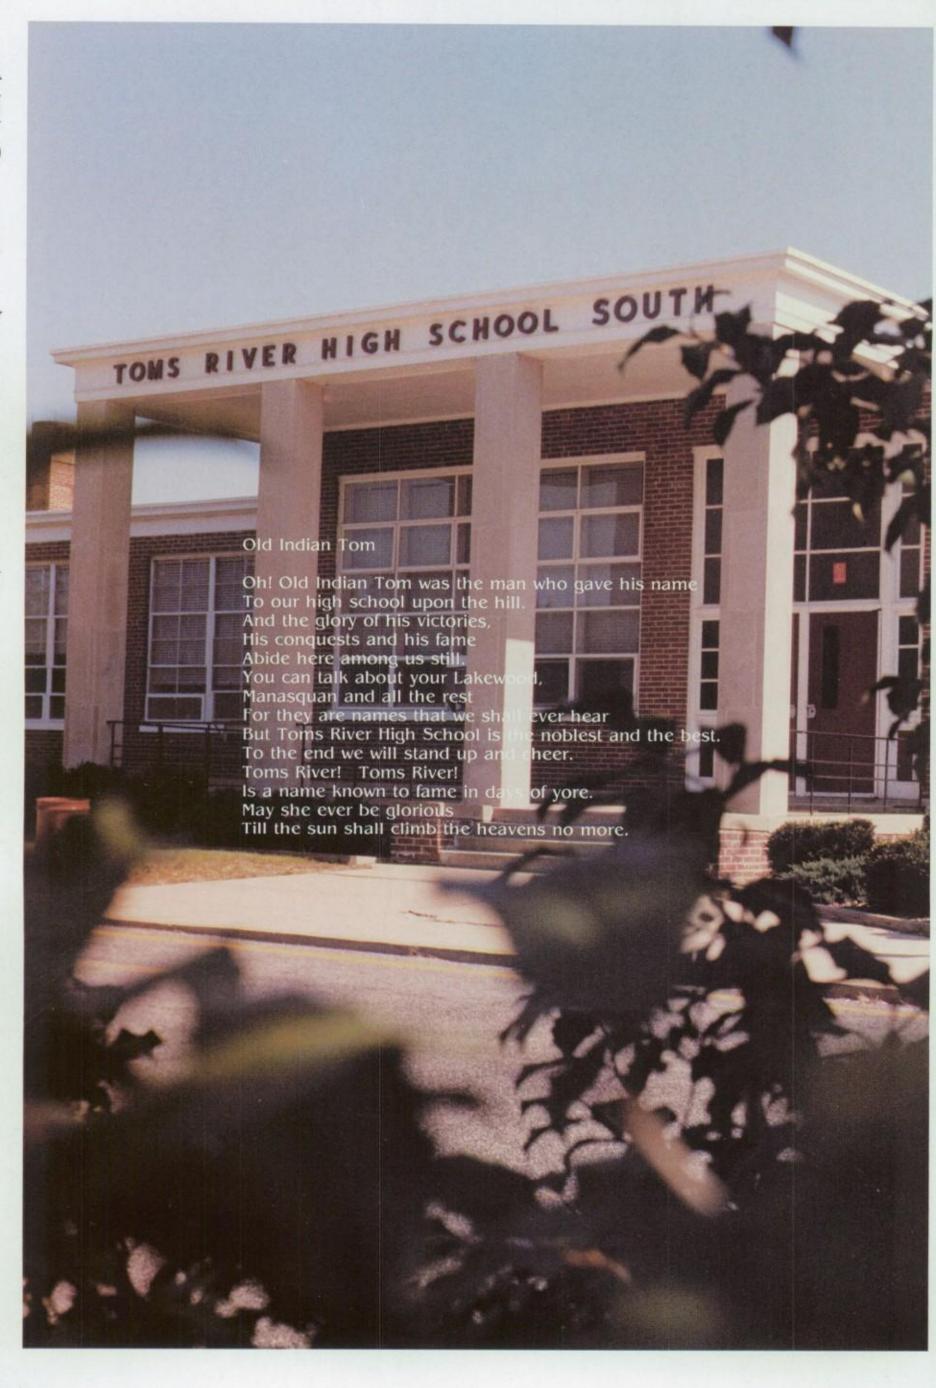

Not yet sure of what they will find, they are sure of what they have found.

Not yet positive of what they will be, they are positive of who they are:

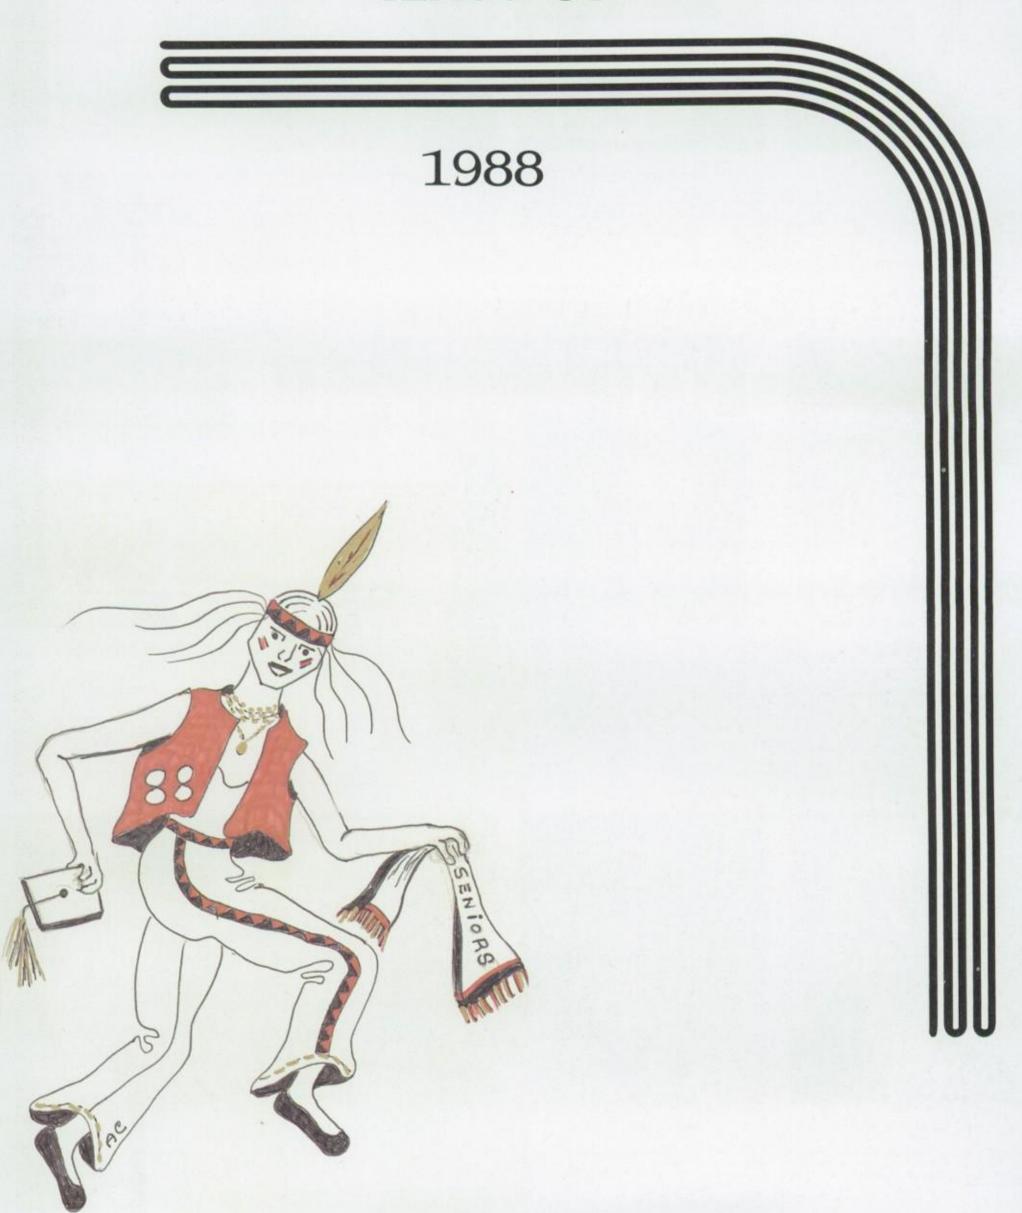

They are the Indian; The Pride of the Tribe.

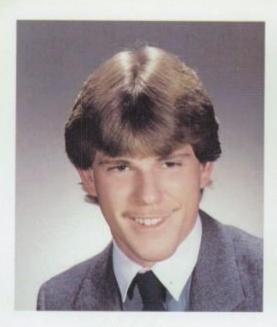

The beat leads them forward- to their beginning.

"Midnight Blue"

SENIOR WEEK

It was Nerd Day at High School South. Early in the morning, Charles Nerdman and Chris Nerdosky wandered into the Cedar Chest office where they met with these questions:

How long did it take you to get dressed? Charles (shyly): Pass. Chris (taking out his calculator): 14.6 minutes.

Where did you get your clothes? Charles: Specialty shops. I like to keep up with the latest fashions. Chris: I go to the same place as Charles.

Do you like school? Chris (excitedly): I love school! Charles: I like it a whole bunch.

What is in your hair? Charles: It's natural. Do you have any girlfriends? Charles (aghast): What? Huh? Chris (embarrassed): Golly, no.

Have you ever had detention? Chris (shocked at idea): No!

What do you think it is like? Charles (disdainfully): ... in there with ax murderers, people making noise, throwing paper.

After this question, Charles checked his watch. It read 7:25 a.m., just one minute past the beginning of homeroom.

Charles (horrified): OH NO! We're going to be late- we've never been late before!

With that, Nerdman and Nerdosky flew through the yearbook office doorway and disappeared.

"I WOULD LIKE TO FEEL I MADE AN IMPRESSION."

During her fourteen years at High School South, art teacher Mrs. Angie Cazzola has seen many students make their passage along Tomahawk Trail. She has witnessed changes in social values and popular rock groups cause drastic changes in students'
attitudes.

During the 50's, students were interested in classical art. In the 60's and 70's, the world was rebellious and this was reflected in the students' art work. Now in the 80's, students' interests are both more technical and supernatural. Mrs. Cazzola has seen several High School South graduates go on to professional art careers. Phil Bruno is a fashion designer. Scott Johnston is a computer graphics designer. Joey Floras creates logos for RCA. Most students work in communications and advertising. "It has been a pleasure working at High School South and with the teens," Mrs. Cazzola states. "I would like to feel I made an impression on the teens so that, even if they have not grown artistically, they have grown as individuals."

"WE ARE ON THE RIGHT TRACK"

Mr. William Rankin has been traveling Tomahawk Trail for 18 years. The changes in the mathematics curriculum he has seen during that time have brought improvement.

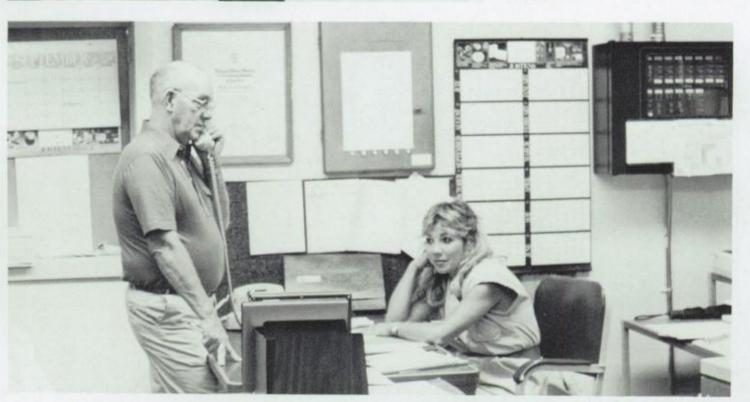

"The curriculum has become more advanced over the years," Rankin notes.

Providing for this advancement has been the advent of computers which, according to Rankin, "has made a big difference."

The High School Proficiency Test in math, now a state requirement for graduation, also improved math performance.

Overall, Mr. Rankin concludes, "We are on the right track."

That track is Tomahawk Trail.

Over the years many changes have occurred in South's building. One change is the addition of the cafetorium which contains a stage.

Mrs. Beth Morrison, theater arts teacher, says the stage is a big improvement because it gives students the opportunity to practice and perform during school hours whereas, in the past, they had to commute to other schools for use of their stages.

Although the stage is not without problems, improvements are gradually being made. Other areas of improvement are students' participation in High School South theater itself. Mrs. Morrison notes that participation has improved greatly since her first year at South 11 years ago.

During the first year, there were between 25 and 30 students involved in theater arts. This year, there are more than 70. The Forensics Team, which Mrs. Morrison started last year, has already doubled its enrollment.

Mrs. Morrison looks forward to the day when one of South's thespians leaves Tomahawk Trail for Broadway's Great White Way.

The significant sophomores of Toms River South have earned themselves a reputation for being aggressively school-and community-spirited.

Besides having participated in such standard fund-raising projects as candy, magazine, and flower sales, the sophomores introduced Data Match, a computerized compatibility match-up, to Toms River South.

As an outreach to the community this year, the sophomores had the Special Education Department of South grow plants for them which they potted in festive Christmas holiday planters and distributed to residents of a local nursing home.

The class that will usher in Toms River South's Centennial Celebration entered the school this year with a gust of enthusiasm that should carry well beyond the school's one-hundredth year.

This Class of 1991 not only outsold the three other classes during the magazine sale, it came forth heartily during Valentine's Day with both a Heart-a-Gram exchange and a "Heart to Heart" dance.

We welcome these fantastic freshman.

Students involved in the Cedar Chest assume the awesome responsiblity of continuing a tradition of excellence for South's yearbook. Success in this responsibility requires dedication and determination.

Cedar Chest members dedicate themselves to the task of taking all that High School South is, compiling it, and presenting it in an annual publication. For this, staff members dedicate their time, their journalistic talents, and their enthusiasm.

Furthermore, staffers exhibit the determination to improve the yearbook constantly. They know that in order for the Cedar Chest to present South's best, it must be part of South's best. Members of the Cedar Chest staff find the creative process of preparing a book for publication very rewarding. Most rewarding of all is the day they hold in their hands the results of their creativity, bound in leather and ready for autographs. On that day they know they have become part of the Indian tradition of excellence.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The National Honor Society is a group of academically talented and extra-curricularly involved students who receive recognition for their prowess by being selected to the society.

The National Honor Society conducts several charitable drives designed to help the needy in the community. It also provides a tutorial program for students experiencing difficulties in a subject.

Boys and Girls State is a week-long, indepth study of local, county, and state governments. To participate in the program, a student must be chosen by the local American Legion Auxiliary.

Held at Rider College, students spend a week learning about the functions of government. They perform the same governmental functions that real officials perform. All these experiences help give the students an in-depth look at how government works.

SKILLS ...

Toms River South students receive job training in both in Ocean County Vocational School program and the COE program. COE, Cooperative Education, is a work-study program which allows students to develop their skills while earning salaries at banks, insurance companies, and the Board of Education. To qualify for the program, students must be enrolled in business courses. They may sign up for the program in their junior year to gain acceptance into it in their senior year. Program coordinator Mrs. Ruth Lewis supervises the entire application and interview process students engage in to acquire the jobs at the businesses that participate in the COE program. Once hired, the students earn the salaries regularly established by the cooperating business.

By the end of their senior year, many of the COE students have proven themselves such valuable employees that the participating businesses keep them on their payrolls.

Always well supported, the Cultural Olympics grows in popularity every year.

MARCHING INDIAN BAND THE 1988 TOURNAMENT OF ROSES PARADE PASADENA, CALIFORNIA 120 Activities

A R

It began five years ago with an application to the Tournament of Roses Committee- a resume of accomplishments, a band video and photo, and evidence of the Marching Indians' fund-raising prowess to pay their way to the Rose Bowl should they be selected.

A year later, a response to the application came. It was a request from the committee for an update on the application.

Finally, in the summer of 1986, the Rose Bowl Committee called to ask Tom River South band director Mr. Jack Milkovitz if the Indians were still interested in marching in the Rose Bowl Parade. His answer was an enthusiastic "yes."

Tournament of Roses east coast representative Eric Wopschall carefully reviewed South's resume, compared it to the resumes of the almost three hundred other schools from the East who were applying for the parade, and made his recommendation to the committee that South's band be accepted. The committee agreed and, on December 15, 1986, notified a jubiliant Mr. Milkovitz of its decision.

Band parents then formulated a fund-raising campaign that included cookie, citrus, and candy sales; a boat raffle; a rock-a-thon; car washes; tag days; and a 50s dance to raise the $130,000 needed to reach the Rose Bowl.

Meanwhile Mr. Milkovitz and assistant director Mr. James Mobley focused on developing the band's routine for the parade. They selected three songs: "National Emblem" as a march; "This is My Country" as a patriotic; and "Quejada" as a drum corps.

Pom-poms adivsor Ms. Nancy Krauszer set herself to the task of devising an alternative to the use of pom-poms which were not allowed in the parade. She conceived the idea of Nautical Signal Flags and hand sewed them herself.

By November, the 180 band members had increased their practice schedule to build endurance for the five-mile, two-and-one-half hour march of non-stop music.

Songs learned, flags sewn, money raised, and endurance built, the Marching Indians of Toms River South were ready for the Rose Bowl.

On December 28, 1987, 180 band members, sixteen chaperones, and 220 band parents gathered at Toms River South to begin their journey to the Rose Bowl. Eight hours later, they arrived at Newport Beach where they would stay while in California and readied themselves for the parade.

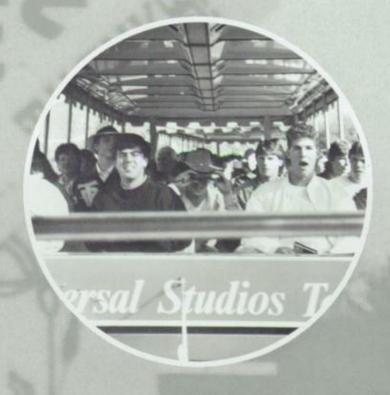

Before the "main event" of the Rose Bowl Parade itself, the Indians marched in Disneyland in Anaheim. Although they found this exciting, it could not rival their enthusiasm for the Tournament of Roses Parade march to take place on New Year's Day.

The California sun shone brightly on January 1, 1988. The parade route glistened beneath its rays. The Marching Indians assembled on Pasadena Boulevard for their five-mile culmination of their five-year dream.

Unaware of the parade's theme until that day, they learned it was "Thanks to Communication." Their nautical sign flags perfectly developed this theme as they presented their own approach to communication to the television cameras en route.

After two-and-a-half hours of non-stop playing, the march was over. Band members completed their stay in California with visits to Knott's Berry Farm, Universal Studios, the Rose Bowl, Hollywood, and the Farmer's Market. On January 2, 1988, they returned home.

The Marching Indians have not yet applied to participate in any other major parades. As Mr. Milkovitz explained, "This will be hard to top."

ADVANCED CHORUS

Mrs. Linda Leonard directs this group of very talented students who make up the Advanced Chorus. The group contains mostly seniors, who work very hard to maintain their status as the Advanced Chorus. This year, the chorus took a trip to Broadway to see the musical Cats.

MIXED CHORUS

This year's Mixed Chorus is a mixture of female and male vocalists. Most of the members are sophomores and juniors. Under the direction of Mrs. Linda Leonard, the Mixed Chorus performs several concerts throughout the school year.

FRESHMAN CHORUS

The Freshman Chorus is new to Toms River South this year. It also is under the direction of Mrs. Linda Leonard. The students participating in Freshman Chorus will audition for the Advanced or Mixed Chorus at the end of their freshman year.

Students enrolled in this elective five-credit course receive instruction from Mr. Don Spaulding who prepares them for performance in two to three annual district-wide high school concerts. There, orchestra members play selections that are typically classical, such as orchestral pieces by Brahms, Beethoven, and Wagner.

Although strictly non-competitive, the orchestra submits itself to an evaluation at Glassboro State College every year.

Orchestra members must display the ability to read music and must have received instrumental training on the elementary and intermediate school levels.

WOODWIND ENSEMBLE

Participation in the woodwind ensemble is limited to band members and is by invitation only by its director, Mr. James Mobley.

The woodwind ensemble begins its season of weekly practice and occasional performance immediately upon completion of the Marching Band's season in November.

The ensemble shows its musical abilities at performances in elementary schools, senior citizen organizations, the Teen Arts Festival, and civic functions. The ensemble's repertoire is primarily classical, although it contains highlights of pop music.

Director Mobley holds as a goal for the ensemble a competition in which the group may participate.

STAGE BAND

Soon after the Marching Indians retire from their fall band schedule, they have the opportunity to audition for the Stage Band. Of those auditioning, director Mr. Jack Milkovitz chooses twenty of the most dedicated and able to begin a rehearsal schedule consisting of one night and one afternoon session per week.

The Stage Band repertoire consists of songs from the Big Band era of the 1940s and current pop songs arranged for stage band ensemble. The band presents its repertoire in concert with the school's two concert bands, in a maximum of two annual stage band competitions, and in entertaining such service clubs as the Elks which invite them to perform.

ART CLUB

The Art Club consists of students working to develop their artistic ability. The students volunteer to make many items for the school. The Advisor, Mr. FitzMaurice, helps the students to broaden their interest in art.

ENNIFER LUTTO

The Garden State Distinguished Scholar Program awards scholarships on the basis of students' class ranks, junior year SAT scores, and selection by their schools. Approximately 3200 students statewide receive these $1000 scholarships, renewable annually, that can only be used at New Jersey colleges and universities. The National Merit Scholarship Program is an independently-supported, merit-based scholarship program which students may enter by taking the PSAT/NMSQT test in their junior year. An evaluating committee selects 15,000 out of more than one million students to be semifinalists. The semifinalists must then complete another application and essay to be selected as finalists when they qualify for scholarships ranging from $500 to $8000 annually.

The staff develops its own ability to appreciate and evaluate poetry by studying various types of poetry throughout the year.

CHIEFTAIN

I. to r.: Mark Wilhelms, Christie Wilkinson, Gretchen Baiamonte, Jesse DeFreitas, Errika Beattie, Monica Lenz, Russ Clark.

The Chieftain, Toms River South's newspaper, presents to the students and faculty a monthly publication of news pertinent to the school community. Its roving reporters check the heartbeat of South on issues ranging from dating to nuclear disarmament.

The Chieftain is published monthly by the Journalism II class under the direction of Mrs. Sally Howe.

DECA

This year, Deca (Distributive Education Clubs of America) was involved in community out-reaches. It sponsored a food drive at Thanksgiving and a toy drive at Christmas. Membership in Deca is limited to those who are involved in the Distributive Education Program. According to advisors Mr. Jeff Schenker and Mrs. Maryann Crimmins, this club has grown larger and larger over the years and is continuing on that path of expansion.

Row 1, I. to r.: Lee Ann Dye, Patty Crosby, Michelle Hunton, Eric Stender, Janine Liotta, Brian Corbin, Dave Kanko, Shannon Sarno, Lynda Galati, Carrie Hoffman, Tracy Pray, Traci Fuller, Janet Stein. FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America) is open to all students in business or office courses. It is a national organization promoting the inner workings of a business. Under the direction of advisors Mr. Ken Ashman and Mr. Tom McMahon, this year's FBLA officers were: Bill Kiernan, president; Angela Drumm, vice-president; and Geralyn Jones, treasurer.

SKI CLUB

This club is designed for skiing afficionados from the novice to the advanced level of skill in the activity.

A highlight of this past season was the club's weekend trip to Mt. Snow. As with most of its ski weekend trips, the club left for Mt. Snow early Saturday morning and returned home late Sunday night.

During the two-day span, club members, under the supervision of advisor Mr. Mike Reynolds, sharpened their skiing skills, gained a sense of independence and responsibility, and had a lot of fun!

RACQUETBALL CLUB

This year, the Racquetball Club had approximately twenty-five members. Each member possessed either the ability to play racquetball or the determination to learn to play the game.

With a non-competitive focus, advisor Mr. Wilbert has his team members meet together twice a week for friendly rounds of racquetball.

KEY CLUB

The Key Club is a community service organization. Its outreach to the community involves such functions as a blood drive and a food drive.

Key Club members, with Mr. Talmadge Brunson as advisor, look forward to both their annual lip sync contest at Toms River South and to their annual convention in the Poconos where, for an entire weekend, they meet with members of other Key Clubs from other areas.

DRILL TEAM

The Drill Team began two years ago at Toms River South and has served as a unique source of entertainment.

Tagged the Soul Stompers, the Drill Team, under the direction of Mrs. Annette Fridie, has choreographed its own routines to stomp through pep rallies, parades, and basketball games.

VIDEO CLUB

"Now turn your monitors to Channel 6 for today's edition of 'Good Morning, Indians."

That program featuring newsworthy people and events at Toms River South, was the brainchild of the Video Club. Besides "Good Morning, Indians," the Video Club, under the direction of Mr. William King, films such student body events as campaign speeches for Student Council candidates and various athletic competitions.

FORENSICS

Having been formed only last year, the Forensics Team is still a bit of a newcomer to High School South. The team, thirty members strong and rapidly growing, consists of students who enjoy the lively art of debate and rhetoric

The team has competed twice already at Monmouth College and in competition at High School South and at the Teen Arts Festival.

In order to raise funds for the team to attend a Broadway show, advisor Mrs. Morrison conducted a "best legs" competition for all male faculty members. The choice remains a debatable issue for the team.

THESPIAN SOCIETY

The Thespian Society functions as an honor society for theater arts. In order to qualify for election to the Thespian Society, a student must have accumulated a minimum of ten points which he earns by participating in school theatrical productions. A students earns one point for every ten hours of work on a school production. Under the direction of advisor Mrs. E. Morrison, the Thespian Society presently consists of eighteen members.

SOUND AND LIGHTING CREW

Members of the Sound and Lighting Crew work diligently behind the scenes to ensure that everything in ront of the scenes runs smoothly. They make sure the microphones are working for the speakers. They operate the lighting for various productions and can be credited for all special effects with lighting at high school productions.

Recruits to the crew receive training in the operation of both sound equipment and lighting equipment from senior crew members Laurie Duncan and Karen Schuler and from advisor fr. Dave Correll.

The crew embraces the goal of acquiring more technically advanced ighting equipment for High School south.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

The International Club was started ast year for students who wish to broaden their cultural awareness. Trips to plays, international restaurants, and cultural events are planned during the year. The club, composed of approximately thirty members, meets with advisor Mrs. L. Hadjas.

Ist row, I. to r.: Kelly Carroll (treasurer), Rachael Stryker, Ron Heinzman (secretary), Michele Lee Mazzuchelli (president), 2nd row: Mrs. Hajdas, Carey Ballard, Heather Edwards, Saskia Laita, Gregg Gardell, Dawn Fulton, Allison Large, Jocelyn Normand, Ann Riedinger, Marsha McCormack, Dana Austin, Cher Ritchie, Elizabeth Hayes, Lisa Johnson, Heather Martis.

We have a tradition here at Toms River South ... a tradition that the theatre company produce an annual musical ... that the musical feature South's best talent ...

Our tradition calls for director Beth Morrison to work long hours supervising sets, props, costumes, rehearsals ... why does she do it? because it's tradition! ... and without tradition, our lives would be as shaky as ... A FIDDLER ON THE ROOF!

Near sell-out crowds welcomed the Fiddler to Toms River South's cafetorium for three nights- February 25, 26, 27.

For those three nights, the cafetorium became early 20th century Russia and was filled with the fiddler's strains. Lead players in the production included Brian Wilkinson, Mike Kennedy, Christy Coughlin, Anthony Mauro, Mike Finn, Mary Mauro, Lisa Petersen, Dawn Caris, and Laurie Duncan.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENTS

When Luciana Barbosa, Diana Valverdi, and Saskia Laita arrived at Toms River South this fall as part of a student exchange program, they brought with them expectations that American high school life either changed or challenged.

As Luciana found out, the United States is not at all like her native Brazil. "The schools are very different; in Brazil, the classes don't change. Instead, the teachers change rooms. Also, in Brazil, there are no electives, only academics. School is a lot more fun here!"

Diana Valverdi (Poochie) arrived here expecting American high schoolers to be wild and rambunctious. In her native Ecuador, the schools were segregated according to sex and the rules were much stricter.

The less restrictive environment has helped Poochie become less shy, but she still very much misses her friends and family back in Ecuador. "You really have to go away for awhile to see their (friends and family) true value."

Saskia Laita from Spain would agree with Poochie. While enjoying the novelty of American high school life (Saskia believes courses here are much easier than they are in Spain), Saskia yearns to return to her native country. "Living here is a great lesson. One learns how much your family really means to you. I really miss them."

For the third year in a row, Toms River South's football team has been Class A South champions. Carrying on the winning tradition, Coach Chip La Barca led the team to a 10 and 1 season. The team finished first in the Shore and was unbeaten in the regular season for the second straight year.

The captains were running back Pete Lamicella, MVP-awarded offensive tackle Brian Wilkinson, defensive tackle Mike Kennedy, linebacker Chris Raichle, and flanker Chip Labarca. Linebacker Jeff Laing and quarterback Carlos "Chico" Hernandez also made major contributions this season.

Total group effort made this a great season. South's "Death Valley" defense intimidated many teams this year. The offense, with its powerful line, led an awesome air and ground attack.

One of the greatest wins this year came against Toms River East, winning 54-0. Another great game was the 7-0 win over Brick Township, which was the deciding game for the Class "A" South title.

This was a banner year for Toms River South girls tennis. Coach "Kenbo" Ashman added this season's record of fifteen wins to his other coaching successes for an illustrious career total (thus far) of 130 victories!

Strong performances came from team captain Jane Ellis who played first singles. Jane was also the team's most valuable player.

Dominating first doubles were Nadine Patran and Karen Schuler who qualified for the All County First Team.

Senior Jenn Terry and junior Linda Schuler played second doubles while junior Emily Dupignac and freshman Marty Seaman showed their skill at second single and third single respectively.

The team is losing its four significant seniors after having contributed largely to the team's achievement of a final record of twelve wins and four losses this season.

The young boys soccer team had a rebuilding year. The team was composed of four freshmen, three sophomores, and three juniors. Providing leadership were seniors Doug Forrester (capt.), Sean Sheppard (capt.), Jeff O'Keefe, Mike Russell, Rob Peters, Doug LaPerry, and Mike Conover.

First team All Conference, All County, and All State Group IV player Doug Forrester led the team with four goals and eighteen assists.

Major contributions were also made by Class A South All County player Sean Sheppard and Steve Ellis. Strong midfield play was provided by Dan Mount and the tenacious Mike Russell. The defense was anchored by Class A South and All County sweeper Brian Winters who received strong support from Tom Adams and Mike Conover.

The team's future looks bright with Dan Mercuro, Matt Cotton, Dan Narozniak and Scott Marinus leading a strong freshman class.

Toms River South field hockey team enjoyed another winning season. This year the team qualified for round two of the South Jersey Group IV Tournament.

Graduating MVP Michele Siegmann, a three- year varsity letterer, is looking to attend Rutgers University in the fall.

Graduating leading scorer Tracy Smith plans to attend college in Florida. She is a four year letter winner.

Senior Amy Markle has been a leading offender for four years at the varsity level.

Other seniors who have completed their final South field hockey season are Alicia Kedz, Magoo Schiedermann, Laura Kosmoski, and Heather Nolze.

Despite the exodus of so many strong players, the team can expect another good season next year thanks to the abilities of ten returning letter winners, including Captain Ellen Truskowski, and other standouts including Dawn Peins, Tracy Fromm, Mary Gardner, and Thuy Merrigan.

Highlights included a tenth place finish in State Competition. Individual honors in states went to Rafael Colon (second place in floor exercise, third place in vaulting) and Eric Patterson (fourth place on pommel horse, fifth on high bars, and sixth in the allaround).

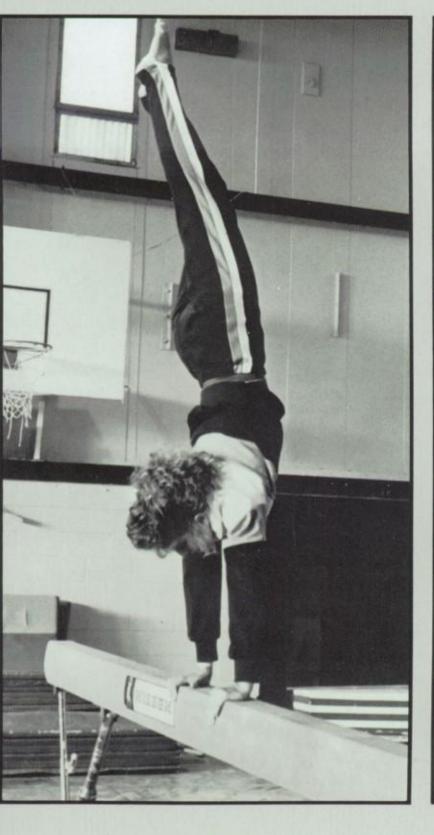

Although the team is losing seniors Ed Jiminez, Dave Kanko, and John Nahrwold, the strength of the juniors Rafael Colon, Jerry Gee, Rich Ingenito, John McDermott, and Eric Patterson combined with sophomores Sean Kerly and Mark Riccardi and freshman Mike Heffernan should lead to another successful season.

While it could not be called a stellar year for Toms River South's girls gymnastics, it was a year with highlights and hopes.

One such highlight was the addition of an assistant coach. Mr. Steve Hennessey joined Coach Putman this year. Together they plan to build the team. A hope in the year was the arrival of freshmen Erika Bjornsson whose prowess at the sport eamed her the title of Most Valuable Player. The team looks to Erika as a valuable replacement for senior Melissa Orosz who completes her career at South having served as the gymnastics team captain.

The boys' basketball team has depth.

Consisting of sophomore, five juniors, and four seniors, they had a strong standing in the Class "A" South. The highlight of their season was a 72-70 victory over Bricktown. The game ended with three three-pointers from Rick Pacana, Chip Labarca, and the game winner by Doug Forrester.

The team was guided by senior captain Doug Forrester, along with other seniors Rick Pacana, Tom Sutaris, and Ben Kearney. Pacana and Forrester spurred the offense while Kearney and Sutaris boxed out everyone under the boards.

Andrew Friberg made a strong showing midway through the year. He became a very big factor in rebounding and scoring. Ben Montenegro, Chip Labarca, and Dustin Brown will fill the shoes of the graduated seniors very well. Coming off the bench this year were Dave Vandermeer and Herb Ray; they to will be looking for a starting spot.

Every so often a team is due for a rebuilding season. That is exactly what happened this year in girls' basketball. The team was young and inexperienced. Leading the team was senior captain Karen Schuler, along with seniors Barbara Novak, and Tracy Smith. Besides inexperience, the team was cast with a spell of injuries. On the injured list were five of the eight varsity players, for the majority of the season.

Although this season was a let-down, the future is bright. The returning junior will be Linda Schuler and controlling the boards will be the lone sophomore Jenn Fahey. Linda Schuler posted the best defense while Karen Schuler kept the offense in order.

Rookies this year were Jenn "three-point" Montano, Michele "Air" McMahon, and Martha "Golly-gee" Seaman. Although the team did not post the best record, they were hard working and determined to improve. Once again South Girls Swim Team dominated the pools. Falling only to Rumson, South took second place in the Dual-Meet Conference.

Led by Coaches William Rankin and Dolly Putman, the girls worked hard and got great results. Captain Cindy Patton along with captains Kim Ansbro, Leslie Newcomb, and Jane Ellis led the team by setting new records and pulling the team together. Rachel Hermann, Karyn DeBock, Emily Dupignac, Kara Grove, Dana Feeney, Jen Walshe, Kim Reichard, Jessica Foster, Ellen Truskowski, Allison Culpepper, and Lenora Creed all helped out with performances which proved to be turning points in many meets.

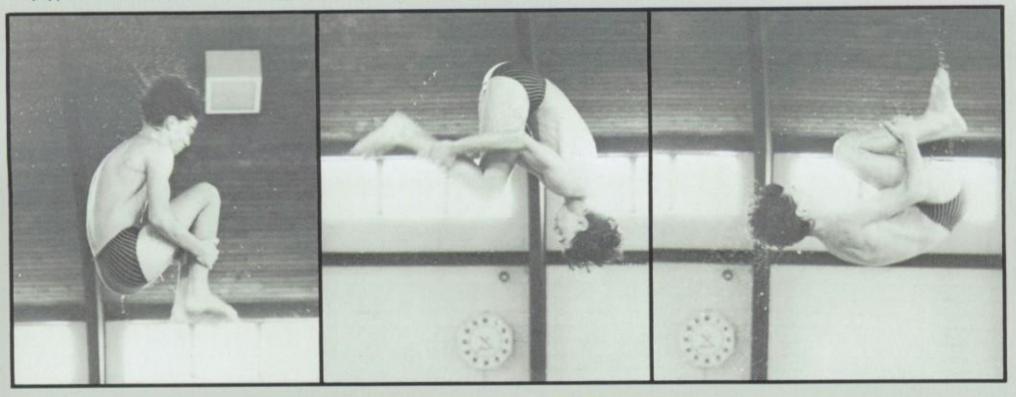

Diving Captain Jeeneine Lorusso led her squad with the highest scores. Missy Boland and Tobi Thompson also were key divers.

Faced with the loss of many super swimmers and with a new coach, the South Boys Swimmers overcame all odds and had a great season.

Coach Bruce Madden proved to be a real asset to the team. Working the boys hard and providing leadership, Coach Madden proved that South boys were a force to be reckoned with.

Jamie D'Alessandro, Mike Fallon, and Steve Padham were some of the seniors who did an excellent job. Juniors Spence Culpepper, Billy Sorrentino, and Mike Lehr proved to be sources of speed for winning meets. Brian Fischer surprised the team with his butterfly.

Senior diver Ed Orlando led his squad while junior diver Eric Paterson played a major role in the diving success.

South Boys Swimming took third in the Shore Conference meet.

Toms River South's hockey team had one of the best records of its history. The team entered a new league this year. They played in a North Jersey league where they finished (6-7-1). Coach Reynolds worked very hard and was most dedicated to the players. Seniors Peter DoCarmo and Scott Bennett were captains and Senior Chris Raichle was the cocaptain. Their overall record was 6-12-1. Next year the team will be young, but they have great potential for the future.

Girls' soccer enjoyed great highlights last season. During the season's second half, the team won every game and tied one to Jackson. Rival Toms River North's reign was threatened when they lost to the Indians. Their title was captured when Cindy Marshall scored a hat-trick against Toms River East to lead South to a 4-1 victory.

The girls are on their way to another winning season. Sixteen strong players are returning after last season's 10 wins, 4 losses, and one tie. Returning players include seniors Tracy Smith, right wing: Jane Ellis, stopper:

Laura Kosmoski, mid-fielder: Magoo Schiederman, forward: and Captain Karen Schuler. center midfielder. Juniors Linda Schuler and Heather Gleman also contribute to the midfield offense.

This year's defense has no rookies. Juniors Tary Hilden, Tracey Fromm, and Mary Gardner are fullbacks, and Dawn Peins will be sweeping the backfield. Veterans Tricia Broadfoot, sophomore, and junior Kim Batullo tend the nets. Other returning players are sophomores Shannon Sheppard, Cindy Marshall, and Laura Johnson.

Girls' spring track is a much improved team this year. New runners have joined the team and strengthened the forces.

Patti Rezac and Luralene Jones will be leading the girls to much success in races this year.

There was a time when cheerleading WAS girls sports. Now that girls can compete in other organized sports, cheerleading has had to upgrade its requirements to maintain its appeal.

While the "cheerleader look" requirement remains one of neatness, perkiness, and school spiritedness, its skill requirement demands higher level stunts that incorporate gymnastics moves.

Toms River South cheerleaders receive intensive training in precision moves at professional training camps. While the girls learn the moves, the coaches learn how to spot them.

Science

It is an integral part of our lives. And at CIBA-GEIGY, science is our business. That's why we're committed to developing, and sponsoring, educational programs that explain, and explore, the sciences.

We were the sole corporate underwriter of THE BRAIN Public Television Series. CIBA-GEIGY sought to reinforce the educational impact of the series by funding its High School Resource Guide.

We created the Exceptional Black Scientists Poster Program which recognizes the achievements of 15 black men and women in a variety of scientific disciplines.

CIBA-GEIGY sponsors the Science Screen Report, an international film/video series presenting the latest developments in science for use in high school classrooms.

And we support excellence in science teaching through programs including the CIBA-GEIGY Exemplary Science Teaching Awards, presented annually in conjunction with the National Science Teachers Association.

Science. The Rewards Are Exhilarating.

CIBA-GEIGY Corporation is a diversified chemical company engaged in the discovery, development, manufacture and marketing of agricultural chemicals, dyes, pharmaceuticals and health care products, plastics and components for industrial use. Headquarters are in Ardsley, N.Y.

Toms River Office 204 Horner Street Toms River, N. J. 08753 (201)-341-1212 Manchester Office (Colbye Commons) 1900 Route #70 Lakehurst, N.J. 08733 (201)-657-0600 The sound of sure-footed walking echoes down Tomahawk Trail. He approaches the sound, a youth, The sound is the beat of traditions he does not recognize. The sound is foreign to him. He doubts that will ever change. Cautiously, frightened, he steps; his feet falter on Tomahawk Trail.

He strives to stay in stride, But he cannot match the others' steps; He cannot join their ways.

Sometimes others help him.

He leans on them and walks, feeling the beat of Tomahawk Trail.

He moves with it; he's part of it but cannot find it on his own.

On his own he must walk slowly, but with each beat the trail is easier.

Piece by piece he joins it; he is part of Tomahawk Trail. He marches there contentedly, growing stronger with each step.

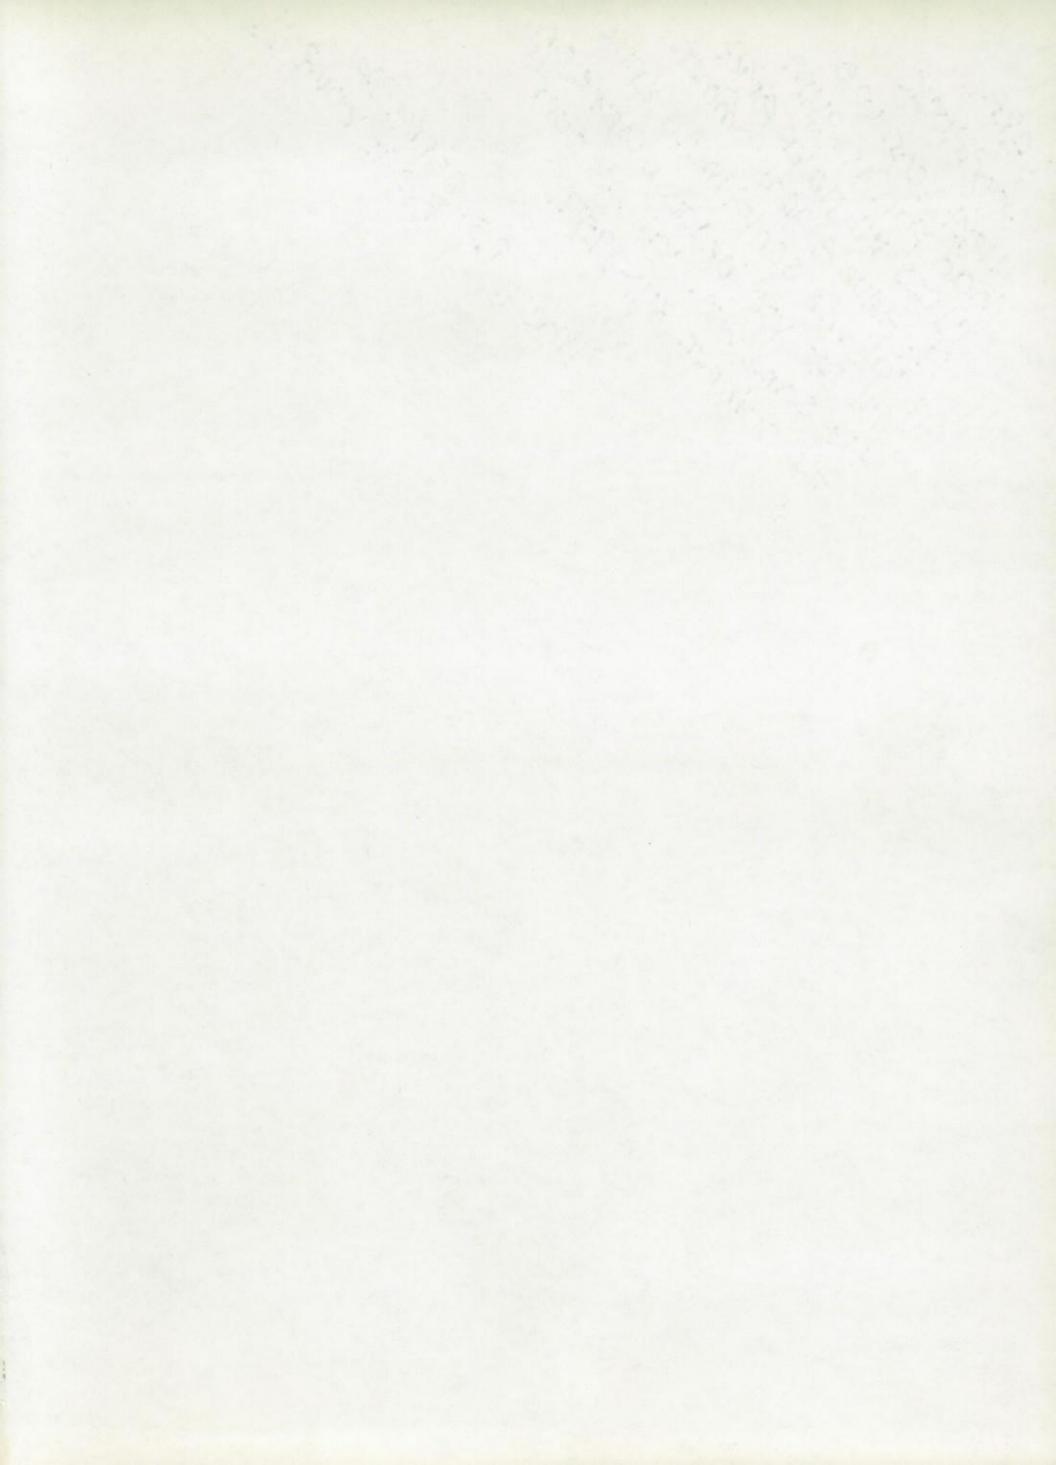

Soon the stride he could not follow is the march that he would lead. He enhances the trail with his steps; others follow in fashion.

Now he wishes for his own path; he wishes for his own traditions.
